

Mr. Jefferson Davis.
New York Sun.

We wish to enter our protest against the manner in which the recent appearance and speeches of Mr. Jefferson Davis have been received by a large portion of the northern press.

Our esteemed contemporaries seem to forget that this is a free country, and that Mr. Davis is no longer subject to arrest or trial, but enjoys the most perfect right to express freely and fully his ideas and emotions on all public questions, both of the present and the past. Whatever he may say is open to be criticized and controverted. Other views may be advocated, and other sentiments may be preferred; but at the same time, he is entitled to a hearing, and all the more to a patient, respectful and attentive hearing, because of his defeat and the overthrow of his cause. What he says is sure to be considered; and the proper answer to be made to it is the answer of reasoning, and not the answer of passion or prejudice.

For our own part, we hail with satisfaction the fact that Mr. Davis, the leader of the defeated in the greatest of civil wars, not only remains in his native land and among his own people, who followed him with unexampled enthusiasm and devotion throughout a mighty struggle, but that he remains unharmed, enjoying his property and his friends, protected by the laws, free to go and come as he pleases, and to speak wherever people are willing to hear him. It seems to us that if there is anything sublime in recent history, it is this fact that no vengeance has been taken by the victorious people of the United States upon the less fortunate people of the South, nor any prohibitions imposed upon them against debating the issues of the great contest not only as a matter of history and philosophy, but also as a matter of sentiment and feeling. As there never was any other civil contest that equalled this one in its magnitude, its sacrifices, and its heroism, not only on one side but on both, so there never was any other Lost Cause where the losers were held free from all vengeful retaliation after it was over, and the victory determined.

We trust Mr. Davis may live long and enjoy the affection and respect of his fellow citizens. We hold that he and they—and he not more than they—committed an enormous mistake, but we nevertheless respect profoundly the purity of his character, the spotless record of his personal history, and the ability and sincerity which he applied, and still applies, to his work.

Moreover, we congratulate the whole people of the United States on the wisdom they have exhibited in this question. It is in our judgment an immense public benefit that the topics of the civil war can still be freely discussed by Mr. Davis and other participants in it, as they are now discussed in the south, as well as in the north. Where free speech is held sacred, discontent cannot exist. Let the safety valves be kept open, and let affection for the Union increase as a warm and glowing love for the free country of which we are all, in the north and in the south, alike members.

Grading Journalists.
(Chicago News.)

It has occurred to us that there could be no better time than the present for a combined strike among newspaper men for less work and more pay. The employees of the press have been painfully aware for a long time that their services are not remunerated as they should be—that little pay is doled out to them for too much work. While train movers, and butcher boys, and dirt shovellers in divots of the republic are demanding compensation commensurate with their toil, why should not the meek and lowly journalist turn like the trodden worm and fling the iron heel that is grinding him in the dust of starvation and obscurity? We are told that a secret order is now being organized among editors and reporters, and that within a short time this continent will be convulsed with the most prodigious uprising that has ever taken place between the shores of the Atlantic and the Pacific. The object of this secret, modest, but puissant organization is to better the condition of the practical journalist and thus directly benefit the universal cause of literature, and we are confidently informed that upon next Fourth of July—being the 110th anniversary of this nation's independence—the following schedule of weekly wages to be paid editors and reporters will be submitted to the proprietors of American newspapers:

To editorial writers who "used to know Thurlow Weed and Horace Greeley" and who wear long beards and no neckties, and who write essays beginning with "We opine" or with "Alas!".....$30
To editorial writers who read the Nation and the Scientific American.....40
To editorial writers who would like to see their declining years at the head of an established weekly.....25
To editorial writers who receive mail addressed to "he Hon." and who cure a foreign mission.....20
To reporters who know Dagum and worked on the New York Sun.....15
To reporters who say "yes, sir," and "no, sir," to the city editor.....12
To critics who discuss "the fortunes, bravuras," etc., of "B-nana," "Stocopepe," and "Jobbly-Flush" kids.....15
To female reporters who seek to denounce artists that a house is a man's work, 10
To "society" girls.....8
To ex-lawyers, ex-prebends, ex-statesmen and ex-tradersmen who have been starved 10
To editorial writers who have held a clerkship in Washington one winter and are thoroughly acquainted with national politics and the tariff question.....20
But we can violate this schedule no further. Suffice it to say that when once the grasping monopolists who now hold the journalistic intellect of our country by the throat are compelled to accede to the just demands of brain labor, pale faces and haggard forms will be banished from our newspaper offices, and affluence will reign where the twin vultures, starvation and poverty, now brood in hideous silence.

In a Worse Fix.
(Chicago News.)

Jeff Davis declares there is no such thing as the "lost cause" that it is not lost. Of course it isn't. It is only in the same fix as the Irish sailor's dipper. "Captain," said he, "is anything lost when you know where it is?" "No, Pat," "Well, then, the dipper is in the sea."

On motion of Mr. Plumb the house bill was passed to grant the right of way through the Fort Selden military reservation to the Rio Grande, Mexico & Pacific railroad company on May 6. This is the name of the Santa Fe road in New Mexico, and the bill referred to is probably only to remedy some technical fault in the bill previously passed granting the same right.

THE NECESSITY

FOR THE SPECIALISTS.

DR. WAGNER & CO.

We offer no apology for devoting so much time and attention to this much-neglected class of diseases, believing that no condition of humanity is too wretched to merit the sympathy and best services of the profession to which we belong. As many are innocent sufferers, and that the physician who devotes himself to relieving the afflicted and saving them from worse than death, is no less a philanthropist and a benefactor to his race than the surgeon or physician who by close application excels in any other branch of his profession. And fortunately for humanity, the day is dawning when the false philanthropy that condemned the victims of folly or crime, like the leper under the Jewish law, to die uncared for, has passed away.

YOUNG MEN

Who may be suffering from the effects of youthful follies or indiscretions will do well to avail themselves of this, the greatest boon ever laid at the altar of suffering humanity. Dr. Wagner will guarantee to forfeit $500 for every case of seminal weakness or private disease of any kind and character which he undertakes to cure and fails to cure.

MIDDLE-AGED MEN

There are many at the age of 30 to 40 who are troubled with too frequent evacuations of the bladder, often accompanied by a slight smarting or burning sensation, and a weakening of the system in a manner the patient can not account for. On examining the urinary deposits a rosy sediment will often be found, and sometimes small particles of albumen will appear, or the color will be of a thin, milky hue, again changing to a dark and turbid appearance. There are many men who die of this difficulty, ignorant of the cause, which is the second stage of seminal weakness. Dr. W. will guarantee a perfect cure in all cases, and a healthy restoration of the genito-urinary organs.

Consultation free. Thorough examination and advice.
